
Group Coaching Supervision

Coaching Supervision Partnership

What is Group Supervision?

Group supervision offers an opportunity to learn from others and consider common issues.

This is especially valuable for coaches with less experience, or those operating on their own, or with a limited number of clients or coaching in a single sector or organisation.

The sharing of experience, learning from each others' contexts and challenges, and multiple perspectives available provide a rich supervisory experience.

What are the benefits of supervision?

- It ensures quality and ethical standards are met.
- It develops the quality of the coaching offer by introducing new approaches and thinking.
- It supports the well-being and growth of the coach.

Supervision provides both the stimulus and the support to keep you working at your very best, and the challenge to keep you learning and developing.

Photo by Adrien Ollichon from Pexels

What is different about CSP's approach to supervision?

Supervision always includes a review of, and learning from, the coach's current practice.

However, we believe that there is an element that is often missing: a review of the coach's practice framework: that is to say, all aspects of being a good coach.

So we have developed a model practice framework, and over a series of supervisory sessions, we ensure that the coach has reviewed all elements of this, from initial chemistry and contracting meetings to final closure and evaluation. Our approach revolves around building collaborative learning partnerships from a principled base. We aim to be an informed companion, responding to the needs and ambitions of coaches to enhance and develop their practice as they journey through the supervision landscape. This eclectic approach focuses on developing as reflective practitioners informed by knowledge of a range of supervision approaches and models.

This supports the coach's CPD as well as ensuring that we fully address the normative function of supervision: developing and adhering to the very best professional standards.

How does it work in practice?

We are offering regular group supervision for coaches on an annual or drop-in basis. Supervision will be facilitated by one of our experienced supervisors, all of whom are trained to ILM Level 7 Supervision standard, and maintain their practice as a group.

Supervision sessions will be for two hours on four fixed dates through the year so that you can arrange them with confidence in your calendar.

When? And what does it cost?

The sessions will be held in the evening, from 7.00pm, on Zoom for a maximum of eight coaches. They will alternate between Tuesday and Wednesday evenings which will always be the third of the month. Dates until the end of 2025 will be:

Tuesday 18 September 2024

Wednesday 20 November 2024

Tuesday 18 February 2025

Wednesday 21 May 2025

Tuesday 16 September 2025

Wednesday 19 November 2025

We are keen to make this accessible to coaches so we are only charging £40 per session.

Photo by Andrea Placquadro from Pexels

Why choose the Coaching Supervision Partnership?

We are a learning organisation of qualified and practising coaches and coach supervisors committed to continuous professional development.

We bring experience of supervising internal and independent coaches working in diverse settings including healthcare, education, not-for-profit, SMEs, large corporate and blue-chip multinationals.

www.cspcoachingsupervision.com

For an informal conversation please contact:

Andrew Scott

info@cspcoachingsupervision.com

01931 712955